

Ibrahim عليه السلام Searches for the Truth

Allah chose Ibrahim عليه السلام to be His Prophet and His special friend. Ibrahim عليه السلام wanted to teach his people the truth: Allah is the true God, and only Allah is worthy of worship.

When the night grew dark, he saw a twinkling star and said, "This is my Lord!"

But when the star disappeared, he exclaimed, "No, this can't be my Lord. I don't like things that disappear."

Then, when he saw the glowing moon, he said, "This is my Lord!"

But when the moon disappeared, it was clear that too was not his Lord.

In the morning, when Ibrahim عليه السلام saw the bright sun, he said, “This must be my Lord. This is bigger!”

But when the sun set, he declared it couldn't be his Lord either. Allah is far greater than the sun, the moon, and the stars.

He called out, “O my people! I turn away from all that you worship. I worship Allah alone: the One who created the skies and the earth!”

I am strong in my belief.

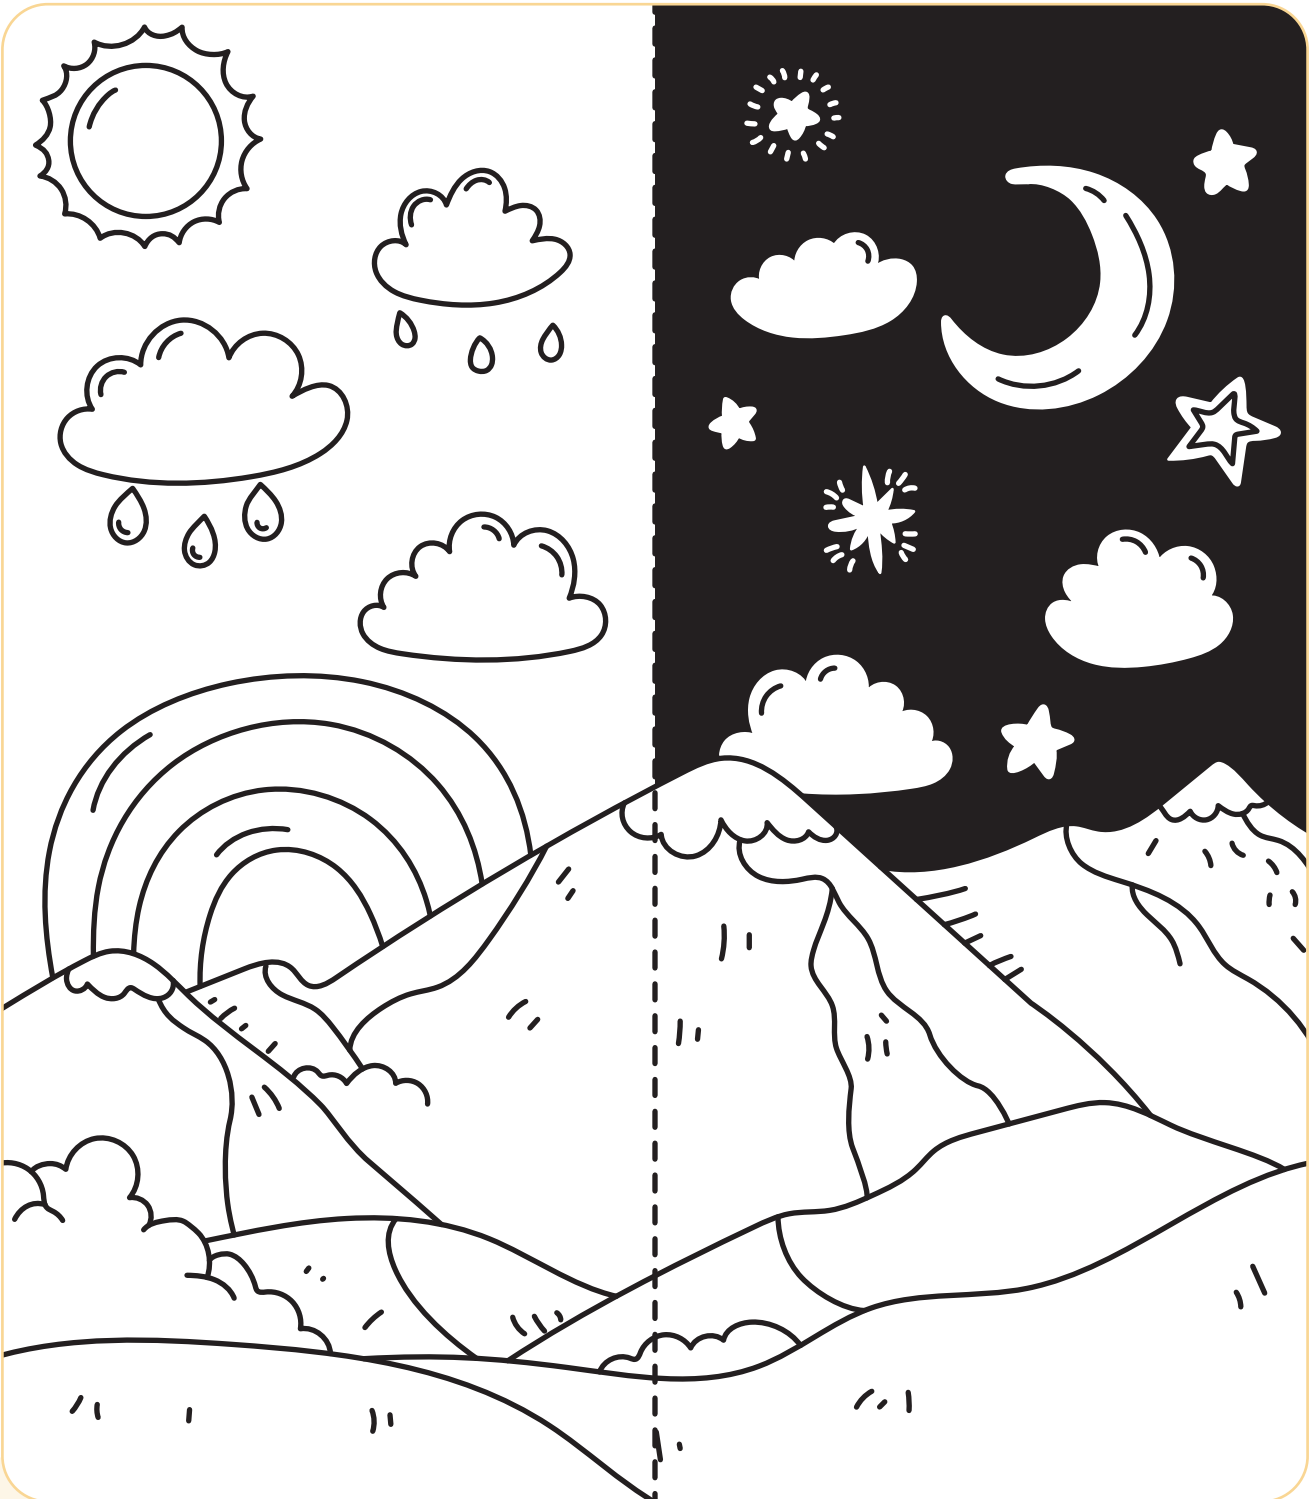

O Allah, help me to always think carefully about what is right.

1 Trace.

I worship Allah alone.

2 Colour in the things that appear and disappear.

3 Look at each pattern. Draw what comes next.

